Biography :

Child of nature, daughter of ceramist, infant of a wide desertic universe where horses are born and live freely, Ariane's first ceramics were created during her early childhood in her father's studio.

The nature surrounding her studio has helped shape her and continues to inspire her today.

Her world fuses tradition and design, authenticity and modernity, poetry and a high level of technique, with a deeply rooted ethic of the art and craft of ceramics .

As a professional ceramist for over 20 years, Ariane Coissieux is known for her unique, mainly large-scale, architectural ceramics, as well as her refined tea- and tableware - with Celadon, Yuteki Tenmoku, Kaki, copper reds, Jun ...

Her work has been exhibited world-wide and is part of numerous private and public collections: from Taiwan to the USA, Turkey, Singapore, Thailand, China, Paris, Brussels and all throughout Europe, as well as the Forbidden City, Beijing...

Ariane is also invited for lectures, symposiums and workshops around the world, and is leader of the professional ceramics school founded by her father 40 years ago, teaching techniques and sharing cultures of this wonderful way of finding joy every day: being a ceramist!

Statement:

Clay, rocks, fire, poetry ...

'Time in my studio is a special moment where I can let go of emotions and dream freely, while sensations bring me to a place where time does not exist. When my gesture is precise and free at the same time, I feel like dancing my pots...

Fascinated by the magic force of fire and mastering high temperatures, I design and build my own kilns, dedicated to the unending quest of my glaze research. Each failure still makes me grow up, and when the result gives me emotions, there is so much joy to share.

Pushing the limits of the technique with the challenge of fusing functional needs and aesthetics, technology and art, this is what makes me live ! It is my humble tribute to thousands of generations of ceramists, the hands in the same clay, transforming raw rocks and ashes into poetry ...'

Argile, roches, feu ... Poésie.

*" Mes céramiques sont une ode à la nature.
La Terre offre les matières premières nécessaires à ma recherche d'émail,
qui les fera renaître dans l'émotion d'un ciel,
de la surface d'un lac ou d'un clair de lune dans la forêt...
La magie du feu scelle le pacte, et chacun est libre d'y découvrir sa poésie."*

Enfant de la nature, enfant de céramiste, enfant d'un vaste univers désertique où naissent et vivent les chevaux, Ariane pratique la céramique depuis son plus jeune âge. La nature environnant son atelier l'a façonnée et l'inspire. Son monde est ancré dans une éthique du métier où tradition et design, authenticité et modernité, émotion et haute technicité fusionnent.

Voyageuse, ses œuvres font partie de nombreuses collections privées et musées de Paris à Pékin. Ouverte sur le monde, elle est souvent sollicitée pour des conférences et symposiums au plan international. En 2020 son travail a déjà été primé deux fois : Premier prix du concours International Macsabal (bol coréen) traditionnel à Ankara (Turquie), ainsi qu'une mention honorifique au prestigieux prix international « golden teapot » à Taiwan.

« Ces prix récompensent plusieurs aspects de ma création. La recherche d'émail haute température au-delà de 1300°C est un domaine dans lequel la force de la matière nous rappelle toujours à l'humilité originelle. Fascinée par la magie du feu, je conçois et construis mes fours à gaz et bois pour cette quête infinie de textures, brillances, couleurs... Aussi, allier le besoin fonctionnel de l'objet à son esthétique m'occupe depuis des décennies. Cet accord doit sonner juste. En Asie il est très codifié pour élever l'objet utilitaire au rang d'œuvre d'art et rendre chaque pièce unique dans l'émotion qu'elle suscite en chacun.

Ma recherche est celle des potentialités secrètes inhérentes à la matière. C'est mon humble hommage à des milliers de générations de céramistes, les mains dans la même terre, sublimant la difficulté technique pour transformer roches brutes et cendres en poésie ... »

Telle une funambule Ariane se relève grandie de chaque chute, pour que naissent de ses fours des pièces toujours plus étonnantes. Il y a alors tant de joie à partager ! Elle dirige également l'Ecole des Céramistes, Centre de Formation Professionnelle créé il y a 40 ans par son Père, Christian COISSIEUX qui fut aussi son Maître.
